

Louisiana Inspector General Stephen B. Street, Jr.

On January 4, 2008, Stephen Street became Louisiana's third State Inspector General. The mission of the Louisiana Inspector General is to root out and prevent fraud and corruption in government.

Mr. Street received his law degree in 1989 from the Paul M. Hebert Law Center at Louisiana State University. The bulk of his years as a practicing attorney have been spent in the field of criminal law at the state and federal levels, first as a criminal staff lawyer with the Third Circuit Court of Appeal in Lake Charles, and then later both defending and prosecuting serious criminal cases. Mr. Street has extensive experience as lead trial counsel in a wide variety of cases, from capital murder to complex white collar and economic crime.

From 2000 until his appointment as Inspector General, Mr. Street exclusively handled white-collar prosecutions as the Section Chief of the Louisiana Attorney General's Insurance Fraud Support Unit. Investigations/prosecutions handled by the unit ranged from basic claims fraud to multi-defendant insurance fraud, money laundering, and conspiracy cases.

Since becoming Inspector General, Mr. Street has overseen the transformation of the office from an internal audit shop into a statutorily empowered law enforcement agency. The office now has a Criminal Investigation Division with seasoned law enforcement professionals experienced in complex white collar fraud and public corruption investigations. The Louisiana Inspector General also now serves in partnership with the Federal Bureau of Investigation on the New Orleans Public Corruption Task Force.

Mr. Street regularly conducts training on white collar and economic crime investigation. He continues to serve as an instructor for the National White Collar Crime Center (NW3C), teaching courses on Financial Investigation Practical Skills (FIPS), and Financial Records Examination and Analysis (FREA) offered to law enforcement throughout the United States, as well as an instructor for the National Association of Inspectors General at its Certified Inspector General and Certified Inspector General Investigator Institutes.

Mr. Street also serves as President of the Association of Inspectors General (AIG), and is a member of the AIG Board of Directors
